The United States District Court in Greenville adjourned sine die last Monday. The following Jurors from this County have been drawn to serve at the August term of Court: Grand Jurors—P. K. McNelly, Frank Elrod, F. J. Washington and J. A. Thomas; Petit Jurors—J. R. Vandiver, James Cely, C. E. Horton and E. B. Henderson.

The Greenville Mountaineer says: "Anderson is belligerent and the young men are organizing a military company to assist in volunteer promptly against Spain. The Greenville boys seem content to let Anderson do the fighting for this part of the country. Greenville militiamen have been service enough to do them in guarding the jail on various occasions."

The New York Sun is having a lot of editorial fun at the expense of Citizen Josh Ashley, of Anderson, South Carolina. As near as we can decipher, the Sun is pestered with the problem whether Citizen Ashley would make a creditable run for Governor on the "no cuff" platform. Josh Ashley is nobody's fool, whether he wears laundried cuffs or a hickory collar.—Spartanburg Herald.

John Temple Graves will deliver his famous lecture, "The Reign of the Demagogue," in the Chapel of the Female College at Williamston next Tuesday night. Admission, 50 cents. Reserved seats may be secured in advance at 80 cents. Tickets on sale at G. W. Sullivan's store, Williamston, and R. W. Griffin's, Pelzer. The people of that section should not miss this opportunity of hearing this distinguished and eloquent orator.

Mr. John M. Laboon, of Brushy Creek Township, while working in his saw mill last Friday afternoon, was struck in the head by a piece of scantling and hurled to the floor with a crushed skull. He died an hour after the accident. The deceased was known as "Georgia John," there being two John Laboons in that section, and was about 55 years of age. He was a widower and owned considerable property. Several children survive him.

Mrs. Susan Bellotte, relict of John E. Bellotte, died at the residence of her son, Samuel A. Bellotte, near Walhalla, on the 24 day of April, 1898, in the 77th year of her age. Mrs. Bellotte was a daughter of Benjamin DuPre and was a citizen of three sons and many friends to mourn her death. Her remains were buried at Mt. Zion Methodist Church, near Central, Pickens County, on the 4th instant.—Walhalla Courier.

Last Thursday Hugh, the 4-year old son of Mr. C. C. Reddie, accidentally shot himself with a pistol at his home on Greenville street. The little fellow had secured the pistol from a trunk and was playing with it when it was discharged. The ball struck the thumb of his left hand, inflicting a slight wound, and then passed through the left side of his neck, barely missing the jugular vein and the carotid artery. Dr. J. P. Duckett dressed the wounds of the little fellow, who, we are glad to say, is now doing well.

The handsome new cover of the Standard Designer for May but faintly fore-shadows the hosts of good things—artistic and otherwise—which are to be found within. There are four color plates, fifteen full-page half-tones and wood engravings, and numerous other cuts, made by the latest and best up-to-date processes, illustrating the newest tasteful and stylish productions of modistes and milliners. There are dresses, wraps and other garments, galore, less ornamental but quite as serviceable, for milady and all the members of her family. The customary departments of floriculture, etiquette, literature and the household will be found as reasonable as well as serviceable, and, above all, interesting—but, indeed, this adjective can be applied impartially to every page of this number of the magazine, as its many readers may prove to their own satisfaction.

The Hose Reels, Hook and Ladder Truck and all fire apparatus was moved to their new quarters yesterday. The truck is placed in the room facing west and next to the Murphy residence. In the other room facing west is placed the hose reel and hand reel of the Pioneers. The reel of the Rough and Ready are placed in the room facing north, next to policeman King's residence. The building is now complete except electric lights, which will be put in at once, and then the officers of the city government will move in.

The Semkins Fabel Comedy Company delighted our people on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights of last week. This is a good company. Miss Hazel Marsh and Messrs. Thomas MacDonald and J. C. Core are above the average in their professions, and sustained well the respective parts assigned to them in the three performances presented here. The inclement weather kept many theatre goers at home, but the attendance was fairly good and most of those who went were well pleased. The stereopticon views exhibited were capital.

There was scarcely standing room in the Methodist Church Sunday afternoon. All the Sunday Schools of the city had been invited there to participate in the Easter exercises of the Juvenile Missionary Society, which consisted of recitations and music and an address by the pastor. Mr. W. R. Osborne, the Superintendent, appeared dressed as an Indian Chief, and four young ladies, arrayed in Japanese costume, took up the collection. The exercises throughout were exceedingly interesting and highly enjoyed by the congregation.

The series of meetings that have been held in the Baptist Church the past two weeks by Rev. Arthur Crane, an evangelist from Massachusetts, came to a close last night. Services have been held both morning and evening, and were attended by large congregations. Much interest was manifested in the meetings and there will be twenty-five or more accessions to the Church. Mr. Crane is both eloquent and logical in his sermons and is doing a great work in the Master's cause. He leaves to-day for Virginia and will carry with him the prayers and best wishes of all our people.

The Yorkville Enquirer of the 9th inst. says: "A telephone message from Clover yesterday morning, said that Rev. T. C. Ligon, moderator of Bethel Presbyterian, was stricken with apoplexy, while speaking, at 8:30 Thursday evening, and at 11:30 yesterday morning he was no better. At the time the message was sent, it was thought that Presbytery would adjourn at 1 p. m." Mr. Ligon is a brother of Rev. R. C. Ligon, of this County, and was formerly pastor of Roberts and Townville Presbyterian Churches. His many friends in this County will regret to hear of his affliction.

The death of Griffin Smith removes one of the oldest citizens of Anderson County. Mr. Smith died Tuesday morning at Piedmont. He was seventy-nine years old and leaves six children, James, George and Allen Smith, Mrs. Amanda Sherman, Mrs. Amelia Matthews and Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson. The cause of his death was dropsy from which he had been a sufferer for three months. Mr. Smith was for many years a member of Mountain Springs Baptist Church, where the burial took place on Wednesday. The Rev. D. I. Spearman conducted the funeral services.—Greenville Mountaineer.

Mrs. Susan P. Smith, wife of Mr. W. F. Smith, died at her home in Belton yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock. She had been ill only six days with pneumonia, and the announcement of her death was a great shock to her friends and relatives. Mrs. Smith was the fourth daughter of the late M. B. Williams and was about 52 years of age. She was a most estimable woman and had long been a devoted member of the Methodist Church. She leaves a devoted husband, four sons and two daughters to cherish her memory. The funeral services took place at her home today at 12 o'clock, and the remains will be brought to this city this afternoon and interred in Silver Brook Cemetery.

Sarah Williams, colored, wife of Henson Williams, living on Dr. Sam Orr's place on South Main Street, near the mill post, while drawing a bucket of water late yesterday afternoon broke through the plank and fell to the bottom of the well. Henson, who was at the house, heard the crash and ran to her assistance. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bolt were passing and he called to them for help. Mr. L. E. Norryce, who lives near, heard the cries, and throwing on his shoulder a long light ladder ran quickly to the scene. Sarah had landed feet foremost and was able to talk. Mr. Bolt immediately lowered the ladder, but finding it too short a leather line was attached and the ladder lowered. The water in the well was so deep that Sarah kept from going under only by the aid of the pieces of broken plank which followed her in her fall. She quickly grabbed the ladder and climbed out of the water. She was then made to tie the well rope around her waist, and this done she began to climb out. When the top of the ladder was reached she was still about eight feet from the top and the critical part of her rescue was risking her entire weight on the two well-worn lines for this distance. Had a line snapped she would probably have fallen back and been severely injured on the ladder. She was landed safely, however, and immediately sank to the ground exhausted. Sarah is about sixty years old but quite active and beyond a few bruises and a pretty severe nervous shock, from which she will probably recover in a day or two, she is all right.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and now I am well again. I know they saved my life, and I robbed the grave of another victim. No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cts. per bottle at Hill-Orr Co.'s Drug Store.
